

Kingdom Principles 116

The Kingdom of God will Prevail

You will often hear influencers of The 5/20 Project say:

“Jesus sees you. Jesus loves you.”

Those words are not just encouragement.

They are a declaration of Kingdom currency.

Where This Appears in the Abraham Story

The tension between the world’s way and God’s way appears clearly in the family of Abraham.

God promised a son to Abraham and Sarah. But when the promise seemed delayed, they turned to a human solution.

Sarah gave Hagar to Abraham, and Ishmael was born.

This was humanity trying to solve a divine promise with natural currency — control, effort, and impatience.

Yet God did something remarkable. He saw Hagar.

When Hagar fled into the wilderness, God met her there. She declared:

“You are the God who sees me.”

This is one of the first moments in Scripture where a person names God.

And the name came from a hurting outsider.

God’s response to human failure was not rejection. It was seeing and loving.

God’s Promise Is Larger Than Human Mistakes

Later, the promised son Isaac was born.

The world might expect rivalry, resentment, and division between Isaac and Ishmael.

But Scripture shows something surprising.

When Abraham died, Isaac and Ishmael buried their father together.

This moment quietly reveals something powerful:

Even though humans made mistakes, God's promises were never threatened.

God cared for both sons.

The Kingdom is not built on perfect human behavior.

It is built on the faithfulness of God.

Connection to The 5/20 Project

When someone receives $20 with the message: "Jesus sees you. Jesus loves you," something supernatural is happening.

The same truth Hagar discovered in the wilderness is that she was not ever alone.

God sees the unnoticed. God loves the overlooked. The money is not the real gift.

The real currency being transferred is love.

And when love becomes the currency, people begin to realize: They are not invisible.

They are seen by God.

Closing Encouragement for 5/20 Influencers

This teaching gives courage to the 5/20 influencer because it shifts the focus away from personal confidence and places it on God's character.

When you approach someone and say,
"Jesus sees you. Jesus loves you,"
you are not relying on your own insight or boldness.

You are simply agreeing with what God has already been doing.

The story of Hagar reminds us that God sees people before we ever do.
He noticed her in the wilderness before anyone else cared.

In the same way, when the Holy Spirit highlights someone to you, it is not random.
It means God has already seen them, and He is inviting you to participate in that moment.

This is why a 5/20 influencer learns to see people through a Kingdom view, not through personal opinion or the world's judgment.

The world often looks at people and quickly decides who they are based on appearance, behavior, status, or circumstance.

But the Kingdom looks deeper.

The Kingdom sees identity before behavior.

So, when we step toward someone, we are not approaching them with criticism, assumptions, or analysis.

We approach them with the simple truth that God already knows:

They are seen.

They are loved.

Your role is not to fix their life.

Your role is not to judge their story.

Your role is simply to deliver the message of Heaven.

And the courage to step forward comes from knowing this:

You are not interrupting a stranger's life.

You are joining a conversation that God has already started with them.

When a 5/20 influencer moves in that simple obedience, the Kingdom of God quietly appears in real time.

One small act.

One person seen.

One reminder of love.

And the currency of Heaven begins to flow.
